Know ye not that there is a Prince and a great man fallen this day? . The Lord shall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness. - 2 Sam. iii. 38, 39. When Massillon came to preach the funeral sermon of Louis the Fourteenth of France, he chose these words of Solomon, I communed with mine own heart, saying, Lo, I have become great! And, slowly repeating them over, as if to recollect himself, Lo, I have become great! then fixing his eyes on the assembly in mourning; next surveying the funeral enclosure, with all its sombre pomp; and lastly, turning his eyes on the tomb erected in the midst of the cathedral, - after a solemn pause, he exclaimed, God alone is great, my brethren! The immense assembly was breathless with solemnity and awe. With such a thought as this, we come to the house of God to-day. Such an occurrence as that which we now lament was never before known in the history of our land. It belongs to the incredible tales of the dark ages. It is out of place in such a land as ours. It hardly entered into our hearts to think it might occur; and this has been the very cause which left our nation s ruler defenceless, and gave the assassin opportunity to execute his plans, and yet to effect his escape boldly.
