Secretary of state (your state) for election laws and returns on state and national elections. County clerk for sample ballots and county election returns. CHAPTER XVI CIVIL SERVICE There are no exact figures of the number of people employed in the work of government. The national government employs about a half million in Washington and over the country to do its work. The states, cities, counties, towns and townships probably employ three times that number for a part or all of the time. The matter of building and caring for roads and streets alone takes many thousands of men. The work of government covers so many fields that practically all kinds of workers are needed, from the highest skilled and professional workers to the men who work at common labor. Extent of Government Employment.--The number of persons whom the people choose by election is very...
