Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Lippincotts s Farm Manuals: Productive Horse Husbandry It has been the author s purpose to emphasize industry as applied to horses. If the production, marketing, and use of horses were regarded as an industry and conducted more generally along business lines, with a definite purpose in view, more uniform results could be obtained and with greater profit to those engaged. It is quite generally conceded that the investigations of the experiment stations, as well as the instruction in the schools and colleges, have been more exhaustive in their application to cattle, hogs, sheep, and poultry than to horses. This is unrepresentative of the importance of the horse industry and inadequate to its needs. The aimless, hit or miss, haphazard system prevails in the production of horses more than in any other class of live stock; the scrub stallion is less in disrepute than the scrub bull, and most producers of market cattle, hogs, or sheep devote themselves more intelligently to their enterprise than do the breeders of horses. Commonly the original producer receives a lower percentage of the price which a horse ultimately brings than is the case with most market products. Indifference to market demands and lack of information concerning the best means of meeting the requirements are largely responsible for the advantage of the middleman. In fact, they constitute the principal asset of a certain class of dealers who derive their profits in direct proportion to the ignorance of those from whom they buy and to whom they sell. Notwithstanding the keen competition between the horse and the motor in some fields, the horse business in general is on a sound basis and...
